"The Rebel Dead."

"It is well said that the habit of decorating the graves of the rebel dead never occurred to the chivalry until they began to see it was a good way, once more, to excite a betrayed and deluded people against a kind and generous Government."
—Raleigh Standard.

Oh! glorious rebel slain!
What tho' thy battled cause proved vain—
Art thou to us less dear?
Shall we grant thee one tribute less,
Because thou couldst not live and bless
The land we still revere?

"The chivalry" will answer "No;"
But he who was thy secret foe,
While living, hates thee dead,
And lifts his voice to cry us down,
Because we decorate the mound
Above each buried head.

We take the "angels' alphabet,"
And mournfully we write with it
"Thy mouldering dust we love."
We know this cannot add one beam
To th' immortal halo that doth gleam
Thy sacrifice above.

We know thou dost not feel the need
Of this, our own heart-prompted deed,
In thy cold and narrow bed;
Still, there's a solace to be found,
A pleasure sad, in gathering 'round
With garlands for our dead.

We wish not to renew the strife,
That cost thee each a precious life,
As a poison tongue hath said;
But we would keep the memory,
Bright in our hearts eternally,
Of all the "rebel dead."

The laurel and the cypress bloom,
Together, o'er the common tomb,
Of those who died in vain;
And many a wreath with tears we lave
As we lay it on the hallowed grave
Of kindred "rebel" slain.

FANNIE B.

Friction Match Making.

[From "Hours at Home,"]

The wood-cutter in German forests furnishes the wood for the little match, the dark-skinned Arab gathers the gum from the trees of the burning desert. But before the insignificant little bit of wood can perform its duty in the service of man it has to employ still more agencies of no small importance. It needs yet the sulphur that forms the yellow collar around its neck, and the manganese that tips its upper end. Again a vast mechanism has to be put in motion before those two requisites can be obtained. The miner has to dive deep into the bowels of the earth, to dig and to labor in the sweat of his brow, to erect furnaces and melt many a mineral, before he can procure the manganese he needs for the little match. Others have to search for the sulphur in the craters of burning volcanoes, where the fierce and untamed powers that dwell in the heart of our earth send up unceasing vapors, white and venomous looking. After awhile they condense, and ere long, the walls of clefts and caves, the bottom of deep hollows, and the sides of the craters are all covered with clear bright crystals of pure sulphur. Old craters, and new craters, still active in the fearful work of destruction, furnish, year after year, large supplies; and man does not hesitate to build his hut and his factory in the very centre of the threatening mountain, and to compel the vapors themselves to feed his machines.

But even now the tiny instrument is not fit for life. The sulphur and the gum do not give light, however they may be subjected to friction, and the manganese does not burn, even when it is exposed to a bright flame. The one thing yet required is the most important of all. Without it, the spirit of fire cannot be conjured up, and even light would still be wanting.

This is the bearer of light, or phosphorus, as we call it, by its Greek name. The chemist—for his assistance also is required to finish the little match—keeps it in vessels filled with pure water well closed against the outer air. Its long thin sticks resemble wax in their yellowish color, their softness, and even their slight transparency. Cautiously, with a pair of little pinchers, the chemist takes them out of the water and places them on a sheet of wet paper; cautiously he cuts a piece off, which immediately breaks into a number of small particles. One of these he places in a small vessel, pours some ether upon it, and slowly the yellowish mass dissolves in the clear liquid. As might approaches, the ether begins to glow with ghastly sheen, and a faint mist arises from the vessel. He holds a heated knife to one of the pieces, and it burns with a dazzling white light, leaving but a small reddish residue. For the bearer of light is so nearly akin to fire, and the chemist well knows its fearful, poisonous power. A touch with the finger, and it burns deep into the flesh, and at the same time instils its venom into the wound. Hence the precaution to keep it always well covered with water, lest the open air should favor the slow but certain combustion, and the rays of the summer's sun excite it to burn off in bright flames.

Another small piece the chemist throws into warm water, when it soon dissolves, leaving apparently no trace in the still transparent liquid. He then mixes with it the powdered manganese, saltpetre, or similar materials, adds perhaps some red or blue coloring matter, and at last shakes into it enough gum-arabic to bind the whole into a mixture of sufficient consistency. As soon as the tiny sticks have been tipped with sulphur, he dips them into this mass; a little of it adheres to the upper end, and as soon as the match is sufficiently dried, it is ready, upon slight friction, to supply man with light and fire.

Thus the forests of Europe and the deserts of Africa, the mines of the earth and the craters of volcanoes, had all to furnish their tribute to the one little match. And whence came the last strange requisite with its poisonous malice and its light bringing power? Not in lofty mountains, nor in depths of the earth, nor in the waters of the ocean, nor in the air that surrounds us, is phosphorus to be found. Its home is in man itself. Every bone of our frame contains the strange element. Far and near, wherever animal life dwells on our globe, there, in the body given by the Creator, dwells the bearer of light. Truly, we are fearfully and wonderfully made. For it seems a great mystery how the system can obtain and receive a subtle substance, which is not found anywhere else in appreciable quantities, and which brings certain death to every living thing. But the marvel—a mystery until within comparatively recent times—is easily explained, if we remember that there is phosphor us in every rock and every earth, even in the water, that, clear and bright, breaks forth from the bosom of mother earth. But it is there only in infinitely small particles, which can hardly be appreciated by ordinary measures. From the soil the plants absorb it little by little, and with them it enters into the system of animals. We eat it unknowingly in bread and mead, in milk and water, and taken thus in the forms which the Creator himself has distributed it all over creation, it is not only harmless, but, by the same all-wise Providence, made indispensable for our existence.

By these strange combinations, the wood of the pine forest, the gum of the torrid zone, the sulphur of volcanoes, the rock from the depth of the earth, and the phosphorus from the bodies of living beings, meet and labor together to produce—a match! And when man takes the wonderful compound and uses it, it blazes up for a moment, and ere he has well thought of it, the labor of all the numerous agents that had been at work on it is lost. Lost? Not quite; for although phosphorus, gum, sulphur, and wood are burnt and apparently destroyed, they are not lost yet in the economy of nature. Like true spirits as they are, they have but changed their form, and assumed a more airy garb, imperceptible for the time, to human senses. Invisible, they pass and float through the room; they slip out at the first opening; they rise high up in the air, travel far and wide, and reach soon again, in altered shapes, their former homes, the woods, the spring, the trees, and the joyous birds. More than that; such is the wonderful restless activity of nature, that centuries hence the same elements may meet once more, and be united again in some strange and unlooked-for combination. For we have learnt in our day, that nothing is lost, nothing finally destroyed in the great household of nature; and that in things material as in things spiritual, "Out of death cometh life."

President Johnson,--Gov. Holden,--Loyalty.

Gov. Holden has returned home from Washington City, whither he has been for the last ten or fifteen days. It is understood that his visit pertained specially to the San Salvador mission. While there, he says he saw the President several times, and conversed with members of the Cabinet, members of Congress, and many other public men.

Gov. Holden says there is a marked difference between the President and the majority of Congress, which he regrets, but he is satisfied that both sides are honest and patriotic in their purposes. He further says that it was understood that the collection of the land tax in the Southern States would be, or had been, suspended until 1868.

In the following paragraph he sets forth what he understands to be the President's views and policy. This we consider of far more importance than any other development made by the Governor. It is as follows:

The President is firm in his determination to maintain his policy. But he is equally firm in the opinion that his policy ought to be carried out by loyal men; and we know that he feels embarrassed and grieved at the change which has taken place in the so called Southern States since May last. He feels that those who control affairs in those States should so act as to sustain and strengthen him, and not to say and do things which are calculated, whether so intended or not, to aid those with whom he is contending for the admission of the States on a loyal basis, without any further amendments of the Constitution. He still holds that if there be but five thousand loyal men in a State, to them should be specially confided the work of restoration; that these loyal men should constitute a nucleus around whom others should rally; that in this way, and in this way only, can the whole lump be leavened, and the States be placed in a condition, when presented to Congress for admission, to make their claims on that body irresistible. While he would persecute no one, and while he would be glad to see all who engaged deliberately in the war acknowledge their mistake, and pledge themselves for the future, and show it by their acts, to be unconditionllay submissive to the national authority, yet his sympathies are chiefly and warmly with the Union men, and he looks to them as leading actors in the work of restoration.—Standard July 17th.

The policy of the President, as understood by the people of North Carolina, they have from the first determined to submit to and stand by. His purpose to restore and reconcile the States by the agency of loyal men and of loyal men alone, is what every man assents to. No man in the State or in the South, ever has believed that the President should attempt to restore the States by the agency of disloyal men. But what Gov. Holden means by saying that "the President feels embarrassed and grieved at the change which has taken place in the "so-called" Southern States since May last," we are not able to divine. If the President has been embarrassed or aggrieved at the conduct of the people and the change which has taken place in the Southern States since May last, we unhesitatingly affirm that the aforesaid people do not know wherefore. President Johnson owes it to himself and to his friends in the South, (and their name is Legion,) to inform them specifically of the causes of his embarrassment.

We are confident there is no purpose in the Southern people to embarrass the President.—So far from it, they have shown a readiness to do whatever he requires, and to contribute in every way to relieve and strengthen him.

He desires the admission of the States on a loyal basis, without further amendment of the Constitution. He still holds that if there be but five thousand loyal men in a State, to them should be specially confided the work of restoration. So says Gov. Holden. Now, we undertake to repeat what we have said before and have often said, that we have heard no Southern man claim any thing else. Our people stand with the President upon this platform. But unfortunately, in all these givings out of the views of the President or of the Congress, or of Gov. Holden, with whom the cry of loyal, loyal, unmistakably loyal men, is a constant theme, none of them have condescended to explain intelligibly what they mean by loyal men.

When the President has used the expression and illustrated his meaning by his acts, the public mind in the South has unhesitatingly believed him to have used it in the common, uniform and legal sense, which has been adopted by mankind in all ages and countries. They have understood him to mean, a citizen who is faithful to the government; one who obeys its laws and who supports and defends it. In this country, it can have no other meaning. By this rule, we are ready that the Southern people should be judged. If a man be charged with disloyalty as being a traitor, it being defined by our law to be a crime, he is entitled to a fair trial and to be adjudged guilty by a proper tribunal, before he is punished. Should the President or the Congress, or Gov. Holden, or any one else without proper form of trial, adjudge any man or people as guilty and punish him or them as such, they violate an essential principle of American liberty.

Now the President cannot mean, by loyal men, only those who have been always loyal; otherwise he could not have appointed Gov. Holden, Provisional Governor of North Carolina. Nor can he mean only those who conscientiously take the "test oath." Because, if so, he could not have appointed Gov. Holden, and in both cases, he would have set aside, ignored and counted worthless, the exercise of Executive pardon. The pardon of the President means something or it means nothing. If it means something, it means absolution, entire absolution for past offences—entire forgiveness for all acts of disloyalty prior to the pardon, placing all thus pardoned, in their former relations of amity and loyalty with the government. Hence it is clear, that whoever else may object, President Johnson cannot object to the loyalty of any pardoned man, unless he has forfeited it by subsequent disloyalty. Such was the view held and practised upon by Gov. Holden, down to the very day of the last November election. After his defeat he changed front.

Now wherein have the people of North Carolina changed their position or forfeitted their rights and privileges under Executive pardon, since November or May last? We ask for information.

The European War.

The war between Austria, on the one hand, and Prussia and Italy, on the other, has come to an abrupt termination. We expressed the opinion, at the commencement of hostilities, that the struggle, however sharp, would not be a prolonged one. In the first place, the nature of the country on the continent, under ordinary circumstances, is ill adapted to protracted military operations, and, in the second, in European entanglements, it has for years been the practice to bring diplomatic appliances to bear upon questions at controversy, before the sword has had a fair opportunity of putting them to the test of a bloody arbitrament. It seems, however, in the present instance, that Austria has cried "Peccavi," even before diplomacy had a chance to intervene. A few hard blows—very hard they really seem to have been,—are sufficient to bring her to her knees, to make her throw up the gage of battle, and, with it, a large slice of ill gotten territory.

The issue of this contest, short-lived and spasmodic as it has been, will work some material alterations on the map of Europe and disturb considerably the equilibrium of powers. It serves to exhibit, in a remarkable degree, the pre-science and the sagacity of that wonderful man, the Emperor of the French, and places him far in the foreground of European sovereigns. Austria, in her capitulation, proposes precisely the terms which he announced two months since, in the incipiency of the conflict, were her true policy, and places in his hands the arbitration and adjustment of all the questions affecting her honor and her interests. While England has become, what Carthage was in its latter days, but a nation of merchants,—a second rate government,—a mere commercial power,—it is perhaps not too much to say that the whilom adventurer, Louis Napoleon, now holds in his hands the destinies of Europe, and, thereby indirectly, of much of the world at large.

In what bold and wonderful contrast with this ephemeral struggle of the grand powers is the war from which we have just emerged!—Austria, with immense levies, and all the appliances of war in superabundance, with finely disciplined armies and all hostile resources at command, succumbs to the first pressure of disaster. The States of the South, with the most beggarly munitions and supplies of war, without means, with scanty subsistence, and shut out from the sympathy and commerce of the world, for four long and bitter years sustained the shock of accumulated misfortunes with a heroism and endurance that is most marvellous to contemplate and look back upon. So great is the difference between a people struggling for a cause which, at least, they believe to be just and right, and a nation of mercenaries, fighting for an empty bauble to gem the name of King or Kaisar, who neither commands the affections of his subjects nor has their interests near his own heart!

The Freedmen's Bureau Bill.

It will be seen, by reference to our telegraphic column, that the President, on yesterday, returned the bill for the extension of the duration of the Freedmen's Bureau to the House, in which it originated, without his signature.

Notwithstanding the perfectly conclusive and irrefutable objections of the President, the Radicals, by a strict party vote, at once passed the bill by the necessary two-thirds vote. The iniquity is now the law of the land, and, as such, until repealed, must be respected and obeyed. Our former experience of the institution justifies the worst forebodings of mischief to ensue from its prolonged existence. It gives a license to speculation, peculation, fraud, injustice and corruption, which will be used in the future, as it has been in the past, unless its operations are scrupulously and vigilantly guarded and watched.

Governor Holden's Position.

The reason given by Governor Holden for not signing the call for a convention of Southern loyalists is that he does not wish to connect himself with any entangling alliances. He is willing, however, to sign a call for a convention of Union men of all the States, which he thinks would settle the whole question in less than three months.—Wash. Cor. Phil. Pennsylvanian.

We regard the proposed Convention at Philadelphia, on the 14th. prox., as a Convention of Union men. If we did not so consider it, we should withhold our endorsement of the movement. The President so esteems it, and gives it, accordingly, his earnest sanction. We desire to know if Gov. Holden approves that Convention.

University of the South.

It will be recollected that, prior to the war, the Protestant Episcopal Church in the South determined to establish a University for the South, and located it, and made some progress in its erection, on a most eligible site in South-eastern Tennessee, in the neighborhood of Chattanooga. It was a favorite project of the late Bishop Polk and others. Bishop Quintard, of Tennessee, recently visited the spot, and thus describes its present condition:

"Accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Merrick, the Rev. Thos. A. Morris and Geo. R. Fairbanks, Esq., one of the trustees of the University of the South, I visited "University Place." All the buildings, with the exception of a an old log cabin, were burned by the Federal army while encamped on the ground. The corner stone of the University, a block of marble weighing six tons, was broken up and entirely removed. The valuable album, containing landscape sketches by the venerable Bishop of Vermont; all the topographical maps and reports of the engineer corps, showing the peculiarities of local position, the elevation above sea level, as well as the level of the surrounding country, were removed from the iron safe in which they were kept, and carried off.

I selected locations for the buildings of our Diocesan Training School. In the evening we erected a cross on the site selected for the chapel; gathered the workmen about it, and asked the blessing of the Great Head of the Church on our undertaking. We recited the Apostles' creed and made the grand old woods ring with the Gloria in Excelsis."

A BUREAU NEEDED.—We have developments of a whole-sale slaughter of infants in Lawrence, Massachusetts. It appears from the coroner's inquest that a Mrs. ROGERS has received infants, generally illegitimate, and from a month to a year in age, to board. Sometimes she has had as many as nine boarders of this class at once. Last week she had six. There was a coroner's inquest on one of them last Saturday. On Monday a neighbor looked in and saw the unburied body, black, covered with maggots, and the eyes not closed. An infant then in the woman's arms was apparently in a dying condition. Of the one dead, a witness expressed the opinion that the wretched infant "had sucked its fingers to the bone, and quite raw, in the agonies of starvation." Several similar cases were mentioned in connection with this Herodian hotel, or among infant boarders lately taken away from Mrs. ROGERS. It is also stated that some of the mothers hoped the children would die, thus relieving them of paying a dollar a week to the woman. All this in Massachusetts! But as the little sufferers were not in North Carolina, or Virginia, nor "colored," nor reconstructed, nor drawing government rations of white sugar, there is no talk of establishing a branch of the Bureau at Lawrence as a means of protecting infants from starvation!

WORDS sometimes become sadly perverted from their original signification. Thus the word candidate is derived from a Latin word meaning white, because it was the custom of aspirants for office, in the Roman republics, to appear dressed in robes of white, as an evidence of the purity of their motives and the honesty of their intentions. Forney and Stevens are called candidates for the United States Senate from Pennsylvania, though they are clothed in that blackest of all liveries,—the livery of black principles and black hearts.

CORRECTION.—In our article on yesterday upon the Stay law, in speaking of the action of the Supreme Court, we wrote, "but when that Court, in the exercise of its legitimate functions," &c. The printer erroneously put it, "legislative" functions.

Ex-Post Master's Dues.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Is it just, is it right, for Ex-Post Masters, who paid up their dues to the "so called" Confederate States, when that Government made a requisition upon the Post Offices of the South for all back dues to the United States, to have to pay the same debt now to the Department at Washington? I ask, if there is any justice in any such a course of procedure? Many of the Post Masters in the South, when the war broke out, were as loyal as the present Auditor, and remained so through the war. But what could they do, when called upon by the new government, but pay what they had on hand, and which was due the Post Office of the United States? And there were some officers that paid their dues to men who called themselves "Agents for the United States Government," and who presented printed blanks of the United States Government; and yet these must pay it again! The writer of this article, a poor man with a large and afflicted family, who was P. M. in Burke when the Southern States seceded, paid all back dues to a man from Raleigh, who called himself an Agent. But as his office and vouchers were destroyed by Stoneman's robbers, he is now sued by the kind hearted Government at Washington, for a large sum, when he can hardly support his suffering family, and when, too, there is not a dollar in the land to get! The affidavit of the writer's deputy was sent to the Department, in which it was sworn that every dollar due was paid to an Agent of the United States. But it is all of no avail.

The Post Office Department at Washington is quite busy auditing old accounts and putting them in suit. The South is said to be due over $300,000. All this money has been paid once; and if we were a Government at all, which the cartel and exchange of prisoners declare we were, then, if this matter is tested in the proper courts of judicature, the Government at Washington would apt to be loser.

We of the South have submitted so long to every thing the North is willing to impose upon us, that it is doubtful if any one amongst us is willing to stand suit with the Department.—Were I not too poor, I should most assuredly make the effort. I could do so with much propriety, as I have been a loyal man all through the past.

EX-POST MASTER.

Those who affirm that the Conservative men of the North will run Wm. T. Sherman for the Presidency in the next campaign, assuredly reckon without their host. The American Attila will never be run by any party for the Presidency which looks for one vote in the Southern States.

An elopement in high life took place at Atlanta on the 27th., the daughter of a wealthy citizen running away with Lieutenant Colonel Peabody, of the late Confederate army. A warrant was issued for their arrest, but did not get them.

The Jewett Leg Manufactory.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Walking down Fayetteville street, in your City, not long since, I met some ex-Confederate soldiers, each with a wooden leg, all going towards Capitol square. On expressing some surprise to one of your citizens, at seeing so many wooden legged men together, I was informed that they were on their way to the office of the Superintendent of the Leg Department to get orders for legs, which are furnished to those needing them under an act of the last General Assembly. My attention being called directly to the subject and having some hours of leisure on my hands, I determined to spend them in looking into what was being done in carrying out the provisions of the Legislature for supplying artificial legs to those of our brave men who lost their natural ones in the late war.

The act of the Legislature devolves the duty upon the Governor of carrying its provisions into effect. I learned, upon inquiry and by observation, that that worthy officer entered upon the discharge of his duty in this matter with great promptness, and with the go-ahead spirit that has always characterized him, both in public and private life. The first thing to be done was to make an investigation of the various artificial legs that have been patented, and select the one possessing most merit. This was done under the direction and supervision of the Governor, by competent judges, and the leg patented and manufactured by B. Jewett & Co., of Washington City, was selected as the one best adapted, in all respects, to purposes of safe and easy locomotion. An arrangement has been made with the patentees for the erection of a branch Factory in Raleigh, which is now in complete operation, and I was informed by Mr. S. G. Ryan, the State Superintendent of Leg Department, that they will soon be able to turn out about three dozen per month.

The mechanical department employs some twelve or fifteen hands, under the immediate control of A. St. John, Esq., a gentleman well qualified for the position. I took occasion, while in Raleigh, to visit the leg factory, which I look upon as one of the most interesting features, at this time, about the city. A large amount of material has been accumulated, and a visitor to the establishment may witness the manufacture of legs in all stages, from the rough block to the finished and highly polished limb. I saw several legs already completed and others approaching completion, some to supply legs amputated above the knee and some below, of various lengths, and also some to supply only the foot. They were certainly a very superior article, and, we believe, the best substitute that can be had for the lost limbs they supply. They are strong, with the proper flections of foot, ankle and knee; are of life size, made to match the natural leg, and are worn with a shoe to match the other foot.

The Counties are supplied by lot, and the Sheriff of each County is notified as its turn arrives. When thus notified, it is his duty to furnish transportation to and from Raleigh to such as have lost legs, as it is absolutely necessary for them to go to the factory to have their measures taken, in order to insure a perfect fit. The Legislature failed, I believe, to make provision for this transportation, but the Governor has very properly taken the responsibility to order it, and also to provide those unable to pay hotel bills with comfortable lodging in a house prepared for the purpose, while they remain in Raleigh. Without such assistance a large number would be unable, on account of the expense, to avail themselves of the benefits of the act of the Assembly, and we feel sure the Governor will be commended for his action on the subject.

We learned that about thirty-five legs had been completed for persons in the following counties: Tyrrell, Harnett, Rowan, Granville, Orange, Carteret, Forsyth, Martin, Nash, Pasquotank, Burke, Greene, Alleghany, Davie, Perquimans, Gaston, Moore, Lenoir, Warren and Mecklenburg. The other counties will come in according to their lot, and the speed of supplying them will be considerably increased in the future.

I have seen some of our soldiers walking on their new legs. At first their step is a little awkward, but after using the legs for a week or two, they walk on them with nearly the same ease and smoothness that they would with the natural limb. We have seen some do tolerable good jumping on them, and others run on them with a considerable degree of speed; but, of course, they are not designed, nor could they be expected, to answer all the purposes of a natural leg, but they come wonderfully near it.

As a citizen of the State I am proud of this wise munificence of our Legislature, and would render to our worthy Governor all honor for his promptness and energy in carrying into effect the provisions of the Legislature for furnishing our unfortunate and brave fellow-citizens with artificial legs, to supply the place of those they lost in sustaining the honor of the State on the battle-field. Much praise is due, too, to those who have taken the contract for these legs, for the faithful manner in which they are doing their work.

To any one visiting the city of Raleigh, and having sufficient leisure, I would say, don't fail to see the Leg Factory. RUSTICUS.

"The Land We Love."

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of this ably-edited, high-toned, spirited Southern magazine. When I first saw its prospectus, I feared that it would meet with the fate of former Southern magazines,—that it would be a sickly plant, transplanted into an exhausted soil. A friend induced me to subscribe for it; I did so, more to promote Southern enterprise than to receive remuneration for my investment. Imagine my astonishment, and agreeable disappointment, on perusing the first number, to find that it was far more excellent than "Harper's," or any other fanatical Northern magazine. It is a journal truly valuable, and I do not think it is too much to say it is without a superior, American or foreign. It is sure to live, and that from its intrinsic merit. I have read two numbers, and, judging from these, it is destined to become a National magazine.

Every farmer, and mechanic, gentlemen of the professions, the literati of the South; every parent, and every soldier of the late Confederate armies, would be instructed and benefitted by carefully reading and studying it. Gen. D. H. Hill is as accomplished a scholar as he is a determined fighter.

LOUISBURG, July 16.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.—Statements have been going freely to the press in regard to the intentions and plans of the President in the future, many of which are wholly unauthorized and most entirely wrong. I am authorized to say that the President has no intention whatever of being present at the Philadelphia Convention. He does openly and undeniably sympathize with that Convention, and will exert all his influence to make it a success; but as the Convention is called to express the views of the people, and of the whole people, on the question now agitating the nation, the President does not deem it delicate nor proper that he should be present, more particularly so as his own acts will be passed upon more rigidly than any other topics.—Wash. Cor. N. Y. Herald.

DIED.

In Enfield, July 5th, 1866, BETTIE, infant daughter of George W. and V. C. Heptenstall, aged one year eleven months and sixteen days.

In Edenton, N. C., on Tuesday, June 26th, of disease of the heart, WILLIAM H. STANDIN, Esq., aged 54 years.

The news of his sudden death spread a deep gloom over the community in which he resided. Few men have been so universally beloved by all who knew them. We recognized in him the faithful and warm hearted friend, the zealous and public spirited citizen, an ardent supporter of every good cause, and, in a remarkable degree, the pure-minded and high toned gentleman. As a vestryman of St. Paul's Church, he was scrupulously active and punctual in the discharge of his duties. To his family he was endeared, not more by the relation which he sustained to them, than by the unusual tenderness and solicitude which marked his whole conduct and intercourse as a son, a husband and a father. May He, who doeth all things well, bind up their broken hearts, and comfort them in their deep affliction! H.

Twelve Hundred Acres.

Three hundred of which is cleared and in fine condition for cultivation. A good portion of the tract, both cleared and uncleared, is fine hammock land, rendering it quite a valuable tract. Besides, it has on it a two-story framed dwelling, with nine rooms and a piazza sixty feet long, double kitchen, smoke house, negro cabins, corn cribs, stables, carriage house, several large granaries, wagon sheds, three wells of water, [one of them the best water in all that section of country,] sixty orange trees in the yard, and an orchard of two hundred peach trees.

The location is a pleasant one and as healthy as any part of any other State. All the advantages of this farm combined renders it one of the few really valuable and desirable homes offered for sale.

For further information in regard to terms, etc., address me at Oxford, Granville County, N. C.

Tuesday Evening, July 17, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—R. B. Pegram, Superintendent of the Petersburg R. R. Co., advertises a first class Saw Mill and fixtures for sale.

The 3rd session of the Rev. C. M. Cook's Male School at Littleton, will commence on the 15th of August.

See notice of Jno. R. Harrison, Assistant Assessor of Excise Taxes for this District.

E. Wilkes, Superintendent of N. C. R. R. Co., gives notice that persons desiring to attend Gov. Graham's memorial oration on the life and services of Mr. Badger, will be transported over that road at one fare.

IT HAS BEEN suggested, and wisely, we think, that the work of remounding and turfing the graves of the Confederate dead, which was set apart for to-morrow, (Wednesday,) be postponed until the weather is more seasonable.

The heat is so intense at present, that many of our citizens, who would otherwise gladly join the young men in their laudable object, would be deterred from co-operation. And as it is very desirable that all of our citizens should unite, we hope the young gentlemen will acquiesce in the suggestion.

NATIONAL UNION MEETING.—A very respectable meeting was held, to day, at the Court House, to appoint delegates to attend the Convention in this City on the 25th. inst., composed of delegates from all the counties of the District, to select two delegates to represent it in the Philadelphia Convention. Particulars to-morrow.

For the Sentinel.

The members of the Granville county Agricultural Society met at Mrs. Alley's Hotel, Henderson, on Saturday, the 14th. inst.,—Col. Jones, 1st. Vice President, in the chair.

The names of Drs. W. W. Young and W. K. Cheatham were added to the executive committee.

The 17th. 18th. and 19th. days of October next were appointed as the time for holding the annual fair.

The Chair appointed Capt. A. B. Andrews, Dr. S. D. Young and Maj. A. J. Rogers, a committee to invite a suitable person to deliver the annual address.

Capt. A. B. Andrews was elected chief marshall.

It was ascertained that the sum of five hundred dollars had been subscribed for improving the Fair grounds, and it was ordered that advertisement be made for proposals to make the requisite improvements,—said proposals to be opened on Saturday next, at 2 o'clock, in the presence of the Executive committee, at the office of the Secretary.

A list of premiums was agreed on; also the rules and regulations by which the fair is to be governed, which were ordered to be printed forthwith.

It was ordered that a condensed copy of the proceedings be furnished the Daily Sentinel and Rural Journal, with a request that they be published.

Adjourned to meet again on the 2d. Saturday in August. G. BADGER HARRIS, Secretary.

PONY PENNING.—We saw a gentleman yesterday, just returned from the Pony Penning, on the banks below Beaufort, which took place on the 10th inst., from whom we learn quite a crowd was in attendance, and some 350 ponies were taken. The ponies were very poor, and very few if any were sold. Prices ranged at about fifty dollars. Another penning will take place on the 10th of August, when it is supposed the stock will be in better plight and command readier sale.—Newbern Commercial.

THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU IN TEXAS.—Advices from Texas are to the effect that the outrages upon the negroes and the corruption of the agents of the Freedmen's Bureau have exceeded anything that has been discovered in any other locality. The investigation there bids fair to unearth transactions which will throw the operations of the agents in North Carolina all in the shade, and make the latter appear honest by way of contrast. Texas is so far away from the National Capital that it seems that the men in charge imagined that they could do just as they pleased without being found out; but the investigations of the special commissioners reveal most extensive frauds, even to the extent of kidnapping negroes, and other transactions of an equally corrupt character. It is this kind of work that the Radicals in Congress are trying to defend and continue for three or four years more.—Richmond Examiner.

A few evenings since some vile miscreant entered Hollywood Cemetery and robbed the grave of little Joe Davis, son of President Davis, of the footstone which had been placed there by a number of the little boys of Richmond.

About two thousand bushels of new wheat have been received and ground at the mills in Richmond up to the present time. So far the millers have been paying from $3 to $3.10 per bushel, the flour ground from it selling at $17 per barrel.

The Savannah Board of Aldermen has adopted an ordinance prohibiting colored persons from entering the public park, unless nurses having white children with them. Policemen at the gates will enforce the order.

Near Augusta, Ga., the other day, a lady was drawing a bucket of water from a well, when the crank struck her in the temple and knocked her to the bottom of the well, sixty feet deep killing her instantly.

Under the head of "Religious Intelligence," the New York Express has an article under the queer caption of "Hello for North Carolina." "Help" is probably the word intended in that connection.

Head Centre Stevens will soon publish an address to the Fenian Brotherhood in America.

Edward Bates, Attorney-General under President Lincoln, indorses Mr. Johnson's policy.

The losses by fire throughout the United States for the past six months are set at $45,000,000.

General Lee thinks he will have three hundred students at Washington College next session.

It is said that General Dix has written a letter favoring the Philadelphia National Convention.

Gen. Jubal A. Early has arrived at Halifax, Nova Scotia, on Wednesday last, enroute for Canada.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"He who does not subscribe to the objects of the Philadelphia 14th. of August Convention can no longer be officer of mine." Such is the substance of the last decree of the Tennessee Tribune. Reversing the example he professes to copy, Andrew Johnson is despotically using all the powers and patronage of the American people to proscribe and punish freedom and enfranchise and elevate treason.—Forney.

Thanks for more good news, Forney.

Internal Tax Bill Approved.—Committee on Retrenchment.—Congressional Salaries.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The President has approved the Internal Tax bill. The House resolution for the appointment of a joint committee on retrenchment, to sit during the recess, passed the Senate to-day. A proposition has been made in Congress to compensate members of Congress at the rate of four thousand dollars per year and ten cents mileage per mile.

Our Ministerial Crisis--Confirmations by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Messrs. Seward, Welles and McCulloch only will remain in the Cabinet. Mr. Randall, the First Assistant Postmaster, will succeed Mr. Dennison.

(The Union charges Secretary Harlan with writing a letter to the Republican, in which he is said to have divulged Cabinet secrets, and also advised the Republicans to remain in session to thwart the plans of the President. The article creates a sensation.)

R. W. Taliaferro has been confirmed as deputy postmaster at New Orleans, and Green Clay Smith, of Kentucky, as Governor of Montana Territory.

The Niagara Ship Canal bill has been postponed until December.

Important Senatorial Caucus--It is Opposed to interfering with Executive Privileges.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—In addition to the general caucus of members of Congress held last night, a caucus of Senators was convened, at which the important propositions for interfering with the privileges of the Executive were discussed. It was decided that it was best not to pass them. We may therefore look for the indefinite postponement of Trumbull's bill and all other measures having for their object the restriction of the President's powers.

John Minor Botts and other Loyalists endorse the Loyal Southern Convention.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—John Minor Botts, John F. Lewis, Franklin Stearns, Charles F. Lewis, and W. J. Cowing, of Virginia, and Captain W. R. Hillyer, of Florida, have each written letters enthusiastically endorsing the Southern Radical Unionists' call for a convention in Philadelphia.—Greely.

Not long since (says the Rockingham Register) two Old Line Whigs in this county met—one an unconditional Union man, the other a warm adherent to the cause of Virginia in the late war, and now an Andy Johnson man:

Unconditional Union man.—"Well, my friend, you have left the old Whig flag and party."

Andy Johnson man.—"Well, that may be, but I have stuck to my color."

It is stated, we know not with what truth, that General John A. Dix has written a letter favoring the Philadelphia Convention, and will probably be a member of it. The Express so understands the matter; but we shall wait before we quite believe that General Dix has surrendered his sword.—Greely.

That is the idea. The "sword" for the South. Will the Northern people see their country ruined that the South may be ruled by the sword?

The Great Eastern, with the Atlantic cable, left the Midway, at noon of the 30th., for Harehaven. The laying of the cable was to have commenced on the 10th inst.

Panorama.

Few cities furnish so many beautiful views from the surrounding eminences that begirt it, as Raleigh. We took a most enchanting view of the western part of the city a few evenings ago, from the bridge which spans the N. C. Railroad, near the mansion of W. M. Boylan, Esq. It is a more interesting sight than we frequently find in the pictures. If Mr. Watson wants a pretty picture, we advise him to transfer his machine to that point some pleasant evening.—Raleigh Sentinel.

Ha! beloved friends! if you want to see something pretty sure enough, come to Buncombe—come to Ashville. The most striking view we had of your city and its environs, was from the dome of the capital. We are compelled however, to exclaim too flat! too flat! Go with us now to the top of Beau-catcher. (Beau-catcher, you know, is a mountain on the East side of the town, whose summit is crowned with a fortification.) East is the valley of the Swannanoa, blooming with vegetation, through which glides the stream so aptly styled a by Southern poet—"nymph of beauty." Westward, and just beneath, is the pretty town with its white houses and church spires, fairly embosomed among the hills. Farther below is the romantic French Broad—"Sileco"—winding its serpentine course towards the Mississippi; then we have Mt. Pisgah, and its neighboring peaks, rising like grim sentinels over the adjacent vales; and farther away the lofty range of "Old Smokey," mingling with the clouds. Then on the wings of the morning, let us fly from the "Bald" to "Old Gray Beard," and play awhile with his aged locks. Then pausing in our flight, we can have a pleasant chat with "The Grandfather" and "Grandmother," finally resting upon the splintered peak of Mt. Mitchell, 7,000 feet above the level of the Sea. Oh!

"What garden, hall or bower, on earth beneath Thrills to such t nes as o'er the mountains breathe?"

Send your pictuie man up here, dear friends, and get a "picture as is a picture;" or show us how to build our Rail Road and you can come more easily and see for yourselves.—Asheville News.

Veto of the Freedmen's Bureau Bill.—It passes both Houses over the Veto and is now a law.

WASHINGTON, July 16, P. M.

The President to-day returned the Freedman's Bureau Bill to the House of Representatives without his signature. He says that the legislation it proposes is not consistent with the welfare of the country, and that it falls clearly within the reasons assigned in his veto of a similar message in February. He refers to that document for his objections. He says the act now in force will extend some months beyond the meeting of the next Congress, and, if additional legislation be required, Congress can then mature a bill.

He opposes the bill as class legislation, as unwise, as setting up military tribunals which are liable to come in conflict with the civil law, and as unnecessary, inasmuch as the laws of each State protect the persons and property alike of white and black.

He also objects to it on the score of economy. The acts of violence which are made a pretext for the bill, he contends, are confined to no State or section, but are common throughout the country and are consequent upon the agitation and derangement incident to a long and bloody war. While such occurrences are to be deplored, they furnish no reason for the continuance of the Bureau beyond the time fixed in the original act.

The conduct of agents is likewise noted, as leading to fraud, corruption and oppression. He further argues, as another reason against the necessity of the proposed legislation, that reference may be had to the Civil Rights Bill, now a law of the land, and which will be faithfully executed so long as it shall remain unrepealed or may not be declared unconstitutional by the proper judicial tribunal. Its provisions, he declares, furnish full protection to all persons without discrimination, and, although it did not receive his sanction, he considers its remedies far preferable to those presented in the present bill.

The provisions relative to confirmation of certain sales of Sea Island lands he considers unwise, partial and unconstitutional. In conclusion, he again urges upon Congress the danger of class legislation, as tending to keep the public mind in a State of uncertain expectation, disquiet and restlessness, and furnishing false hopes to classes of persons of support and maintenance, regardless of whether they pursue a life of independence and labor, and regardless of constitutional limitations.

The bill was put on its passage in the House, immediately after the reading of the message, and passed by the requisite vote: Ayes 103, nays 33.

It was at once sent to the Senate, and that body also passed it: Ayes 33, nays 12.

The bill is, therefore, a law.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 16, P. M.

In the House, Mr. Farnsworth offered a resolution calling on the President for copies of opinions furnished by members of Jefferson Davis' Cabinet to Mr. Davis, on the status of the leaders, immediately preceding the surrender; which was agreed to.

The Roussean-Grinnell matter is not yet disposed of.

A report to the House shows that there are $240,000,000 public money deposited in the Sub-Treasurer's depositories and national banks.

Later From Europe.

NEW YORK, July 16, P. M.

The Paris Moniteur, of July 5th, makes the following announcement:

"After having maintained the honor of his armies in Italy, the Emperor of Austria, concurring in the ideas expressed in Napoleon's letter of June 11th, to his Minister of Foreign affairs, cedes Venetia to the French Emperor and accepts his mediation for the conduct of peace."

Napoleon hastened to respond to the summons and at once communicated with the Kings of Prussia and Italy, in order to obtain an armistice.

The battle of Pultowa lasted twelve hours, and the Austrians were completely routed,—losing 14,000 prisoners and 116 guns. Three archdukes were wounded, and the Princes Lechtenstein and Undischer were captured.

The London Times says that the war is virtually ended.

Garibaldi attacked the Austrians at Manta Luello, and was repulsed. Garibaldi, himself, was wounded in the thigh.

Marine Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.

The clipper ship Hornet from New York to this port was burned on the 3rd. The Captain and fourteen of the crew have arrived at San Palacco, after having been in a long-boat 43 days.

Two other boats, with the mate and twenty others, have not been heard of.

The question of election of President of the Senate to succeed Foster, whose term expires with the present session, is being considered by the Radicals.

A caucus will settle it and a Western man will probably be chosen.

Probable Loss at Sea.

NEW YORK, July 17.

Nothing has yet been heard of the Clipper Monarch of the Seas now four months out from Liverpool. There seems but little doubt that she foundered at sea with all on board. She had 674 emigrants on her and a crew of 54 men. The vessel was valued at $125,000 and insured.

No Family at the South Should be Without Them.

The late Col. John Wright, of Goldsboro', N. C., Aug. 14, 1862, says: "I have used the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS in my family here, and also on my plantation in Alabama, and always with success. I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity I was induced to try the Hepatic Pills. They were given according to directions, and she is now well, entirely restored by them. A similar case occurred among my servants in Alabama. For liver and lung diseases I have perfect confidence in them."

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicine very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

IS a concentrated extract of the choicest roots, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for disease. Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, a priceless blessing to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrotula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Female Diseases are caused by Scrofula in the blood and are often soon cured by this Extract of Sarsaparilla.

Do not discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used Ayer's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agents below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

THE EMPIRE SHINGLE MACHINE.

IS acknowledged to be, by all odds, the best Shingle Machine in America. With only ONE HORSE POWER

3000 Elegant Shingles

per hour are easily made. The machine is built entirely of Iron, very compact and easily transported. It works VENEERS, STAVES and BOX STUFF, and out of the same number of bolts of timber, one third more Shingles are made than can be done by the Sawing Machines. All the saw dust is saved by the Empire and goes into the Shingles.
